

MISSING WITNESS IN SHEPHERD CASE HIDING IN NEW YORK

Police Asked to Find Robt. White in the Me- tropolis

BULLETIN
New York, May 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Robert White, missing witness in the William D. Shepherd murder trial in Chicago, came to New York more than a week ago and has hidden himself from police who started a search for him at the request of Chicago authorities, it was learned today.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, May 27—While Robert White, fugitive witness upon whose testimony the state largely rests its hope of convicting William D. Shepherd for the murder of William N. McClellan, was being sought in New York today, the state's attorney's office proceeded with its inquiry into alleged jury fixing attempts.

State's Attorney Crowe traced White to New York last night and expected his arrest there today. Meanwhile the formal arrest of James J. Kely here last night turned the prosecutor's office into a buzzing hive of activity around which Mr. Crowe threw a blanket of secrecy.

Kelly was named in a letter purported to have been written by White-in Philadelphia last week, by which charge he had been forced to flee from Chicago. Kelly admitted having been with White and Arthur E. Byrne, investigator for Shepherd the night before White left the city.

Kelly Made Admission

Mr. Crowe's only announcement was that Kelly had made admissions that "implicated" White. Amplification of this statement was refused. The prosecutor explained his reticence by saying that the Shepherd defense had accused Kelly of perjury.

White's testimony to the grand jury was in support of C. C. Falman's assertions that he had sold live typhoid germs to Shepherd with the knowledge that they were to be used to kill.

Yesterday's questioning of veniemen in the Shepherd case and of jurors and witnesses of jurors in cases argued by S. S. Stewart and W. W. O'Brien, Shepherd's counsel, brought no evidence of attempts to fix the jury or evidence that jurors in the past cases had been "fixed."

Electrolysis Breaks Service Water Pipe

A "disease" which is seriously affecting the service pipe connections of the city water main system, has increased the number of breakages this spring materially. More cases of breakage in service lines extending from the mains to houses have occurred this spring than in former years.

Secretary George W. Hawley when interviewed today stated that the "disease", which is known as elec-steel service pipes connecting the users with the mains. In instances where cast iron pipe has been installed, there have been no cases of electrolysis. The increased number of breakages, according to Mr. Hawley is largely due to the age of the pipe, which he stated has been in use

There has been in use more than thirty years.

In all cases of breakage caused by electrolysis, brass pipe is being installed, this metal being proof against both rust and electrolysis. Mr. Hawley also stated that in his belief the electrolysis breakages were probably due to the grounding of electric currents and also to the servicing of radio outlets on water service pipes.

Watermelon Season Gets Under Way: Prices High

The present entire watermelon acreage is decidedly less than at any time since 1919 as reported today by the United States Government Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

Both the quality and condition of the melons already received is good, and warmer weather, it is expected, will greatly stimulate demand.

So far more than 80 carloads of watermelons have come out of Florida as against only 14 carloads at this time a year ago. Texas has also started with six carloads. The top price to date is $1,550 for a carload of thirty pound Florida melons at New York.

FIFTY TRAPPED IN MINE
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Raleigh, N. C., May 27—About fifty men were trapped in the mine of the Carolina Coal Co., eight miles from Sanford, N. C., when an explosion occurred shortly before midday today, a telephone call from Sanford says. Officials of the mine authorized the statement that one body had been recovered and that more than half a hundred men were at work in the lower levels when the explosion occurred.

It's a Boy!

That little bundle of humanity will grow to childhood, to boyhood, to young manhood, and eventually he must take his place and fight for existence and success in a stern world.

The value of money, how to earn it and save it—these are the greatest lessons towards success that boy can learn.

Open a thrift account in the baby's name.

Interest the child in it.

Show him how to earn money.

And how to save some.

That program is a part of the duty of all parents since the success of the child is their dearest ambition.

No matter how small, we always welcome such accounts.

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

CYNTHIA GREY SAYS—
 "For the east is east, and the west is west, and never the twain shall meet."
 Kipling's oft quoted lines may not be true in one respect in these days of rapid communication and airplane travel, but they can be taken quite literally in another.

The verse does apply to those impulsive marriages of people of different traits, customs and associations. So many people fail to realize that a sudden sweep of passion in either a man or a woman who meets some one of an entirely different class can be easily mistaken for love. How often have you seen a girl of the highest culture and education attracted by a man with absolutely none?

And even outside the movies and fiction there are many cases of college graduates being attracted by a girl who has spent all her life in an entirely different class.

Usually marriage is a matter of impulse. And unless either the girl or man has very exceptional natural ability to bridge over the gap these impulsive matings result in unhappiness.

Jelly Roll Cake.
 Two eggs, 1 cup sugar, two-thirds cup milk, one and one-third cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 3/4 cup jelly.

Beat yolks of eggs until lemon colored. Beat in sugar, using egg beater. Beat in 3 or 4 tablespoons milk. Mix and sift flour, salt and baking powder and stir into mixture. Add remaining milk and beat well. Fold in whites of eggs beaten until stiff and dry. Pour into a buttered floured dripping pan and bake twenty minutes in a moderately hot oven. Remove from pan while warm and cut off the edge all around. Spread with jelly and roll firmly, rolling from an end of the cake. Roll in sifted powdered sugar and cut across when cold and ready to serve.

French String Beans.
 One quart string beans, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 lemon, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, salt and pepper.

Wash and "snap" beans. Cut in inch lengths. Drop into boiling water and simmer until tender and the water is cooked away. Shake over the fire until quite dry. Resume of Golden Wedding Anniversary

 In 1889 on the tenth day of June he entered upon the duties of Dean of the law department of the Dixon College in which capacity he served for twenty four years.
 He always was deeply interested in general education and the cause of public schools, considering them one of the strong bulwarks of the nation. While a resident of Ashton he served as president of the Board of Education for six years. Also was assessor of the town of Ashton five years, and supervisor one year. Shortly after moving to Dixon he was elected president of the Board of Education in North Dixon continuing as such for a period of fifteen years. He also served as City Attorney one year.
 In the month of October, 1914, J. W. Watts was appointed by the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois to a membership on the Board of Law Examiners of the State, for a period of three years, there being but five members on the board, an appointment thereto is a manifest recognition by the Supreme Court of his ability as a lawyer. This honor has been conferred upon him four times. Once in 1914, in 1917, in 1920 and in 1923. In 1920 the Circuit Court of Lee County appointed him Master-in-Chancery, in which official capacity he is now serving. These several appointments to positions of honor and trust are sufficient to stamp the impress of his sufficient to stamp the impress of his tory of the Lee County Bar and of the great State of Illinois.

In Ashton, on the twenty-fifth day of May, 1875, Mr. Watts was united in marriage to Miss Mary Alice Williams. She was born in the neighboring town of Oregon, in Ogle County, Ill., August 5th, 1857. They have one daughter, Mrs. Clea Bunnell, who was born Sept. 18th, 1876, and is the widow of Edwin M. Bunnell. She has two sons, Willard, living in Rochelle, Ill., and Edwin, who is married, who with his wife and three children are living in the hospitable home of Mr. Watts. If you visit that home you will find four generations dwelling in harmony, under one roof, being kindly protected and liberally provided for by him whom we gladly honor upon this happy occasion and to him, in company with his good wife and family we extend our most sincere and hearty congratulations with the devout wish that they may be favored with many succeeding anniversaries of the happy event of their wedding which gives us much pleasure in being accorded the privilege of meeting with them in their pleasant home in commemoration of the same.

In keeping with a custom in general practice fifty years ago, in which no wedding festivities were complete without a charivari, a party of eight young ladies proceeded at the close of all the other exercises, to remind the party that "ye olden times were not forgotten." They played their part well, and as a reward for the same were invited in and were permitted to gratify their appetites with the delicacies remaining on the table.

Following is the personnel of the

 Ruth E. Morris, Gertrude Nesbit, Eva Lawton, Bernice Wilhelm, Della Smith, Mabel Smith, Paige Swim, Dean Ball, Louisa L. Smith.

All joined in wishing the Judge and Mrs. Watts many pleasant anniversaries as they continue their journey along the pathway of life toward the rosy tinted sunset, at which time may they, in looking backward over the years that shall have fled behold only the glittering bow of promise for the reward of a life well spent.

Following is the list of names of the guests present at the surprise party Monday evening:

Bessie Decker, Florence Netzt, Frances Miller, Mrs. Herbert Scott, Mrs. A. P. Corbin, Mrs. Ella Starks, Mrs. Margaret Shufelt, Freda Netzt, Jeanette Netzt, Mrs. Anna Netzt, Mrs. E. L. Kling, Mrs. W. Dr. and Mrs. Barton Home from Long Tour

Dr. and Mrs. William E. Barton are returning from a tour around the world and expect to sail from Liverpool, on the Scythia, June 4, and to spend the summer and fall at Foxboro, Mass.

Dr. Barton was born at Sublette, Ill., 64 years ago. His father, Dr. Jacob B. Barton, was in business and professional life then for 55 years, and was a long time friend of Mr. B. F. Shaw, founder of the Telegraph.

Dr. Barton received at Cairo, Egypt, the first reviews of his new Life of Abraham Lincoln. He had not, as yet, seen the volumes, themselves.

Dr. Barton delivered important addresses in Honolulu and Manila, also in the important cities of Japan, China and India.

The older readers of the Telegraph remember his boyhood in Sublette and Dixon and others will recall his visits here in later years. The paternal grandfather, Eleazer Barton, a soldier in the War of 1812, came to Knox Grove near Sublette, in 1846. His maternal grandfather, Rev. William Methern, came to Dixon in 1837, and made his home in Sublette. Both were honored citizens of the community in its pioneer days.

Mildred Entertained Twenty Friends
 Miss Mildred Malarkey entertained about twenty little friends at her home, 204 East Eighth street, on Saturday in honor of her seventh birthday. Games were played during the afternoon and there was great excitement in the bean contest in which prizes were given the winners.

At 5 o'clock the birthday luncheon was served on the lawn, it making a very pretty picture when the twenty children were seated around the table, and the large white birthday cake with its lighted candles gracing the center. Dainty favors were given each child during the luncheon hour.

Mildred received many gifts from her little friends.

The children departed for their homes, wishing Mildred many such happy birthdays.

Miss Gladys Akeman Bride of E. R. Hess

Miss Gladys Lettie Akeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Akeman, 1306 Second street and Ephraim Ralph Hess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Hess, 1219 Palmyra avenue, were united in marriage on Thursday evening, May 21st, in Rockford.

The wedding took place at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the parsonage to the Methodist church, the pastor, Rev. Jesse DeLancey, performing the marriage ceremony.

The young people were unattended. The charming bride wore a dainty gown of peach colored georgette crepe with trimmings of ecru lace. Her bridal bouquet was bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She is a most attractive and popular young woman having many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Hess returned to Dixon on and are residing at 1306 Second street, where they are receiving the best wishes of their friends.

birthday cake was cut and served with ice cream. Mrs. W. J. Worsley, in behalf of the ladies present, in a few appropriate words presented Mrs. Booth with a handsome dish.

Mrs. Booth thanked her friends kindly and the afternoon was then spent socially after a short business meeting. Two ladies of the section have just returned from California where they spent part of the winter, and each one told of interesting sights they had witnessed. Mrs. S. J. Dodge told of the M. E. church she attended on several occasions, the edifice costing over a million dollars. Mrs. A. H. Nichols told of the beautiful open air sunrise Easter service she attended in Hollywood, with mountains on each side, the services taking place in a great natural pulpit, as it were.

All present at the meeting enjoyed a pleasant afternoon, long to be remembered.

Close Meeting With Luncheon

The ladies of Section No. 2 of the M. E. Aid Society closed their meetings for the year with a luncheon at noon at the home of Mrs. Lynan Booth Wednesday. As it had been intimated that it was Mrs. Booth's birthday, a little surprise was planned. The table was decorated with a white birthday cake with candles, and a large basket of lilies of the valley. After the first course was served, the

"The Little Lady" is to be given at the Dixon Theatre Thursday evening for the benefit of the Rest Room in Dixon. The production is a musical comedy of a high order. Boost for the new furnishings for the Rest Room, and for the good women who are on the Rest Room committee, and have worked so hard to make the undertaking a success. Do your part. Another Attack on Home-Town Loyalty.

Effort is making by certain get-rich-quick profiteers to cut out all "overhead" and to deal with the people "direct" on certain lines, such as socks and neckties. The method is to use Uncle Sam's mails. Two to four neckties, or a pair of socks or two, are enclosed in an envelope and addressed to people in all parts of the country, address lists being available cheaply. Identical letters are enclosed in these envelopes, offering whatever is enclosed at a price which may sound cheap, but which really provides for a large profit considering the quality offered. The recipient is given the privilege of sending the money asked for or returning the package. The people doing this business have Dixonites on their list, as packages have been received by individuals here.

A good many people, especially those who are attracted more by cheapness than by quality, "bite." As a rule they bite only once, as a try-out convinces them that the seeming cheapness is not real. The average man decides that hereafter he wants to select his own goods, instead of taking them haphazard as they are offered. The thoughtful man decides that he owes it to his own home town and his own home merchants to stand by the town and by the men who are helping him to make it a town worth living in, as well as doing the lion's share of boosting community interests and community enterprise.

The home-town booster should have the courtesy to return the proffered goods, if postage for return is enclosed with them, but it isn't likely that he will "bite."

That this new sort of merchandising, which avoids federal taxes, state mercantile taxes and city taxes, is widespread already is evidenced by stories in other newspapers. The Norristown (Pa.) Times-Herald publishes a letter that is enclosed with goods that are sent to "prospects." This letter is "honeyover" in great shape. It comes from a Buffalo, N. Y., concern and sends "Rayon neckwear" on approval. It likewise gives the prospect an invitation to order a lot more of the same.

The Norristown newspaper has started a campaign for a law to make this kind of merchandising illegal as a misuse of the mails even if not an unlawful use of them. It is appealing to the congressman from its district to introduce the necessary bill in congress. It will have large backing in this.

NATIONAL EDITORIAL

1925 ASSOCIATION 1925

Business sentiment, as the bulletin of a big trust company remarks, is "largely manufactured in New York City." Big banks there are in touch with their branches in other cities. Newspapers there publish business and financial news that is circulated nationally. And all of the New York observers are affected naturally, but unduly, by the state of the stock market. They mistake its ups and downs for fluctuations of national business.

Thus from November to March, while a bull movement was under way in stock prices, the business news sent out was cheerful. Then during March, when stock prices fell, business sentiment grew despondent. There was talk everywhere inspired by New York feeling, of less production, less consumption, lower prices, bad weather and a generally unfavorable outlook.

In April and May there has been a gradual rise in stock prices, so the business reports turn more optimistic again. What have the facts been? That business has been improving rather steadily, and with fair rapidity, ever since last summer. Industrial production has risen to well above normal levels, employment has steadily increased, the volume of transactions through bank checks is at the highest levels ever attained, and railroad traffic is very heavy.

Three "fundamental charts" show respectively a very large volume of building construction, record-breaking automobile production and the highest purchasing power the farmer has had for three years.

The stock market, no doubt, reflects business conditions generally and slowly, in the long run. But if any particular time it is not to be trusted unless it is in harmony with more dependable business barometers like the three referred to.

President von Hindenburg submitted, as one of the most important aims of his administration, a security pact with the allies, particularly France, Great Britain and Belgium. "If all nations have the same will for peace," he says, "God's blessings can not fail."

It should be an excellent thing for the peace and prosperity of Europe. But France and Belgium are not very keen on making such a compact with Germany just now, although Britain might be persuaded.

The logical thing for the allies would seem to be the admission of Germany into the league of nations, whose covenant itself is intended to be a European peace pact. If members will not keep such a pledge within the league, they would hardly keep it outside.

Germany's western neighbors, however, are hardly to be blamed for not dropping at once all their suspicions and fears left by the war and by previous history. And if Germany is left out in the cold for a while longer, she may console herself with this reflection: She need not worry much about her own security if she simply refrains from doing anything dangerous to the security of other nations.

Plenty of cyclones nowadays, but this country is mercifully preserved from political twisters.

"CRASHLESS" AIRPLANE LATEST INVENTION

One more invention, to get us about faster and safer, is the "crashless" airplane. When it starts to spin down, motor stopped and controls helpless, it automatically flattens out its course, and lands, perhaps not gently, but less than fatal. By the time airplanes are as common as automobiles, we shall probably be safer in the air than on the ground.

YOU CAN'T PADLOCK ALL DOORS OF KNOWLEDGE

Mr. Bryan will make the Tennessee anti-evolution trial important, by out to be feasible on an automobile scale, it would be one of the few fundamental improvements in the motor car. It would leave "nothing to watch but the road." But don't discard your old car yet, nor hesitate to buy a new one. These things do not happen in a moment.

Even "the road" is enough to watch. Taxicab companies are employing psychologists, to test their drivers, in intelligence, alertness, quickness and accuracy of response, steadiness, courage, responsibility and character.

Tests for street car motormen are less exacting, but adequate to the job. You know that your motorman is physically sound, steady, sober, attentive, honest and responsible. Otherwise, he would not have the job.

But the highways are full of private motorists who have not these qualifications. Some of them are stupid, nervous, flighty or irresponsible; some of them are insane, or liable to drop dead with apoplexy or heart disease; many of them drink, some of them take drugs, and a lot of them do not care.

Not one of these could get a job as street car motorman, still less as driver for responsible cab company. But, because they have the price of a car, we license them to navigate the highways where they kill more Americans every year than the Germans killed during the World War.

lending his name and services. Whatever Bryan does is news. So the obscure Tennessee teacher, who dared let his pupils use a book already approved by the state board of education, will acquire a vicarious fame when Bryan prosecutes him for the crime. There are 5000 scientists in the United States says Bryan, half of them atheists. They shall not run the schools.

Of course, there are not 2500, and probably not 100 "atheists" among American scientists. But also there is not one scientist—not one—who regards the first chapter of Genesis as a text-book of science. Neither did Moses.

Mr. Bryan and his associates may or may not succeed in keeping scientific teaching out of the schools of Tennessee. Even if they do, they will not therefore have protected the youth of Tennessee from the corruption of knowledge. The libraries are still open. The newspapers and magazines still circulate. The encyclopedia is not yet on the index.

The mountains of Tennessee still contain strata and fossils; and there will still be those who, reading the records written on the living rock by the finger of God, will not deem God a liar. You may padlock one door to knowledge. The others will remain open.

SLEEP AS FATAL AS DEATH, SOMETIMES

Mr. Bryan further proclaims the Democratic party "not dead, but sleeping." One is nearly as fatal as the other, when it comes to losing battles.

Napoleon lost Waterloo for lack of a night's sleep. Hughes lost California, and thereby the presidency, and probably changed the history of the world, by not being awake one day to a situation which he vividly realized the next.

The Democratic party, by Bryan's acknowledgement, at least needs to wake up. And then, awake, it needs to decide which way to go—and go it. When it faced two ways, last year, it went neither.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS by Olive Roberts Barton

"No," croaked Mrs. Blackbird hoarsely, "I wasn't in a fight."

Mrs. Blackbird came to Doctor Bill's hospital one fine day, all ruffled up in a most untidy manner. It wasn't like Mrs. Blackbird a bit, because she keeps herself so sleek and shining she always looks as though she had been using brilliantine or bandolina or something like that on her feathers.

"Well, well, well!" said the kind little bird doctor. "You certainly look as though you had been in a fight, Mrs. Blackbird. Were you?"

"No," croaked Mrs. Blackbird hoarsely. "I wasn't in a fight. At least I don't think I was. Do you call it a fight when you are protecting someone?"

"It all depends on how much protecting you have to do," said Doctor Bill. "Whom are you protecting, Mrs. Blackbird. Your children?"

"Well, not exactly," said Mrs. Blackbird. "At least I—well, I was sort of, too! For I was protecting a friend of my children. And by doing that, I guess I was protecting them."

"Who was it?" asked the Twins who had been listening to every word that was said, and who were so curious by this time they could wait no longer.

"It was a hawk," said Mrs. Blackbird.

"Oh, ho!" laughed Doctor Bill merrily. "That's a fine joke! You—protect a hawk! Why, Mrs. Blackbird, a hawk would eat you up at one bite. And as for being a friend to your children, you must be mistaken."

"No, I'm not mistaken at all," said Mrs. Blackbird sharply. "Maybe some hawks will eat blackbirds, Chicken-hawks and creatures like that. But this is a fish-hawk. The very fish-hawk who was here a day or so ago and told you about taking the goldfish out of the fountain."

"You don't say so," exclaimed Doctor Bill in amazement. "So Mrs. Fish-Hawk is a friend of yours?"

"Quite a good friend," said Mrs. Blackbird. "She never bothers the smaller birds at all as she lives entirely on fish. She even told me that there was enough room in her enormous nest of sticks, for me to cradle my babies if I wanted to."

"Will wonders never cease!" cried Doctor Bill. "And what did you do?"

"Went where I was invited," said Mrs. Blackbird. "There was a lovely space between some sticks in the outside of Mrs. Fish-hawk's nest, so I carried some straw and made a snug little nest of my own. There I laid my eggs and hatched out my family inside, you might say."

"But how did you get so ruffled up?" asked Nancy.

"Oh, yes!" said Mrs. Blackbird. "I almost forgot to tell you. In spite of Mrs. Fish-hawk's kind heart, she has enemies. It's the way of the world I guess."

"She's so big I should think the other birds would be afraid of her," said Nick. "She looks as though she could take care of herself."

"Humph!" croaked Mrs. Blackbird. "Why, that old bald-eagle that chased her was four times as big as she was."

"A bald-eagle," cried Doctor Bill and the Twins. "You weren't fighting a bald-eagle, Mrs. Blackbird, surely!"

"Well, not exactly by myself," said Mrs. Blackbird modestly.

Crops in Southern Part of State is Need of Rain

Carlo, Ills., May 26.—While southern Illinois' crops escaped damage from Sunday's sudden drop in temperature they are surely in need of rain, I. A. Baum, farm adviser at Mound City, announced today. SPECIAL DELIVERY LETTER
FROM SIDNEY CARTON TO JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT

Sometimes, old chap, I think that you ask too many impertinent questions for your own or anyone else's good.

Just why you are so anxious to know who took the little Zoe Ellington home is something in which I have no interest. I am of the same opinion as your wife, LesHe. I have always thought she had a better appreciation of ethics than you. If Zoe would not tell you who took her home, I could not possibly feel that I could throw any light upon the subject. Even if I knew anything about the matter, I would not tell you or anyone else, unless Zoe gave me permission.

Please bear in mind, however, that I do not say that I do know anything about it.

You ask me why I rushed off without saying goodby to anyone. I had a chance to make that early morning train and I knew that if I waited to see you off it would make me at least twenty-four hours late for some business that had turned up rather unexpectedly and seemed quite imperative.

I had intended to write you before this, especially to write LesHe, but the business of which I spoke has kept me on the jump ever since I returned home.

I wish, however, you would tell LesHe for me that it was one of the most enjoyable evenings I have ever spent and that I agree with you that she was the belle of her own party.

I find now that I shall have to be over in Pittsburgh in a day or two. I expect at that time I will have to parry all sorts of questions with you, but I give you fair warning. I shall not answer any of them unless I think that I have the right to do so.

If you wish me to, I will be a guest at your house for the few days of my stay.

Until then I am,
Your best, if not your most agreeable friend,
SYD.

Telegram From Leslie Prescott to Ruth Burke

Can you come here immediately? A most tragic and mysterious thing has happened.

Telegram From Ruth Burke to Leslie Prescott

Your telegram has thrown me all most into a panic. What is the matter? Walter is quite ill with flu. I do not see how I can leave him.

Answer,
RUTH.

Night Letter From Leslie Prescott to Ruth Burke

Can not trust my news to wire. You have probably received some inkling from the newspapers as we are expecting it to come out any moment under scareheads. Thought nothing could be worse than what has happened here, but Walter's illness is an added blow. Am writing full particulars.

KNOX CO. CORN HURT

Galesburg, Ill., May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—At least 45,000 acres of Knox county corn, approximately one-third of the annual acreage of this crop was severely damaged by the freeze of Sunday night. It was reported today by Farm Bureau officials who yesterday made a tour of the county to inspect the loss. Most farmers are expecting to replant as soon as they can secure seed corn it was said. Replanting will be done between the rows to watch the action of the frosted crop.

MAYOR ISSUES PROCLAMATION HONORING DEAD

Asks That Flags Be Displayed in Dixon Saturday

Mayor Frank D. Palmer today issued his annual Memorial Day proclamation as follows:

Whereas, as day has been set aside both by the legislation and by popular accord in which respect may be paid by proper ceremony, to the memory of those who have given their lives for the preservation of this nation, and

Whereas, it is but right and proper that we pause in our usual round of daily tasks to honor those who have made possible the measure of liberty that we now enjoy, therefore

I, Frank D. Palmer, Mayor of the City of Dixon, do hereby request that all loyal citizens do everything in their power to make the observance of Memorial Day complete and fitting; that flags be displayed from our residences and places of business; that business be suspended for the day, wherever possible, and that all business be closed between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 5 o'clock p. m. and that all who can, be in attendance at the Memorial Services to be held on the Court House lawn.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

NEA Service Writer

Washington—With the public health service straining every nerve to stamp disease out, the Agriculture Department is racking its brains to start new ones—diseases of bugs. A first-class, very deadly highly contagious bug disease is the best way of dealing with the pests.

Spraying, gassing and all mechanical methods of exterminating them are satisfactory enough as far as they go, but they're not as comprehensive as a good epidemic. Besides, they're expensive, hard work and involve continually keeping at it. A disease, once started, runs automatically. It spreads too. Its effects, instead of wearing off, grow worse—for the bugs.

The difficulty is to find the right kind of diseases for all the different varieties of bugs. Of course the department's hostility toward them is based on their appetite for farm products. They eat millions of dollars' worth annually. The urban public may not realize this but farmers do. What's more, the bug birth rate is increasing alarmingly—much faster than the death rate, despite all science can do. The Agriculture Department lays this largely to the destruction of birds. It's been checked now, but it went on almost uninterfered with until quite recently. The department estimates there are only about half as many birds today as 40 years ago. Birds eat bugs as fast as bugs eat crops, but only half enough of them can't get away with a sufficient quantity. The balance has been disturbed. "Not all the government aid in the world," as one departmental expert puts it, "can help agriculture as much as twice as many birds could."

If you see any sick bugs—especially if it's something catching and fatal—send them in to the Agricultural Department, to have their germs broadcast.

That the coast guard's anti-hooch blockade isn't all that it's advertised as being is the interpretation placed here on Wayne B. Wheeler's latest talk of enlisting the Navy Department in the war. The Anti-Saloon League, according to Wheeler, its chief attorney, has opposed the navy's employment in enforcing prohibition, except at "a last resort."

Besides, the Justice Department ruled against it two years ago. But the law can be changed, Wheeler remarks. On land, he mentions the army. George Washington, he recalls, used it "in 1794 to suppress the whisky rebellion in western Pennsylvania. If another whisky rebellion develops which cannot be suppressed by civil authorities I believe Uncle Sam has as much red blood in his veins as he had 131 years ago."

Though Wheeler adds that he has "no reason to believe the coast guard and civil authorities will fail in their attempt to suppress rum smuggling and bootlegging," official Washington ventures the guess that he wouldn't be suggesting military and naval measures if he weren't thinking about them.

Anti-tobacco crusaders in and around Washington have launched a drive for $1,000,000 to push their campaign. The time may not be ripe, most of them agree, for absolute prohibition of the weed by law, but they do favor legislation against cigarettes and against smoking in such places as elevators, restaurants, theaters, hotels and railroad stations. Ultimately, when the country is educated up to it, they hope for an enactment suppressing tobacco altogether. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, notable for his pure food and drug activities during a long term as chief chemist for the Agriculture Department, is perhaps the best known of the movement's supporters.

Stateville, Ill., May 26—(AP)—Nathan F. AN AWARD LANDING Freddie is a boy of five years and he has a little brother who is just beginning to walk. The other day he said to his mother:
"Did baby come from heaven?"
"Yes, my boy," replied the mother.

"Well, then," said the young hope-feet; that's what makes him so bow-

Performance

Across the continent—coast to coast—then from Canada to Mexico—4664.5 miles—without adjusting brakes!
There's the greatest test and the greatest proof of the excellence of Rickenbacker 4-wheel brakes.
"Cannon Ball Baker" in his sensational record-smashing drives did it.
"I adjusted my brakes at the end of 4664.5 miles," says the famous driver, "and not because they needed it even then, but I was going after that other record—El Paso to Los Angeles (908.5 miles) which he made in 21 hours, 23 minutes) and I didn't want to take any chances.
"A quarter turn of the adjusting nut was all they needed."
Just think!—that 4664.5 miles was equal to at least 20,000 miles of average driving.
At least 20,000! For in his coast to coast rush (3,106.5 miles in 71 hours, 33 minutes—actual driving time) "Cannon Ball" had to make thousands of quick decelerations and hundreds of emergency stops.
Remember, he had low pressure, balloon tires. Only 25 pounds of air in them—to protect himself from the road shocks.
Couldn't make right angle turns and hair pin bends at full speed.
He says those wonderful brakes really made these records possible.
Because he could, in a few feet, slow down from 70 miles per hour to 25 and take each turn in safety. Then with his 65 horse power motor, get away again as quickly—
But—that's putting grief on brakes.
The route down the Pacific Coast—Vancouver, B. C., to Tia Juana, Mexico—1,558 miles, crossed three mountain ranges—roads up and down—with acute switch backs and steep grades.
Just a series of alternate accelerations and brakes. And yet these brakes were not adjusted till the end of 4664.5 miles—of such terrific driving.
If you have not sensed the smoothness and efficiency of these 4-wheel brakes you really cannot know what perfect braking qualities are.
Drive this Rickenbacker Six yourself—it will be a revelation to you.

 No Dust, Smoke or Gas

By-product coke is fast revolutionizing the household fuel problem and it is confidently predicted by Government Experts that the day is fast approaching when coke will replace other household fuels both in the furnace and for cooking. Many bakers use it in preference to hard coal for their ovens.

As soon as people use coke in a furnace, they never go back to dirty, wasteful hard or soft coal. The Government has issued pamphlets by the thousands in the past ten years urging people to use this clean, economical fuel.

The best of all by-product coke is known by the trade name of "QUICK FIRE COKE" made by the Indiana Coke & Gas Company of Terre Haute, Indiana. They issue an interesting booklet telling about coke and its use and "How to burn it." They send it to any householder free on request, and give names of dealers who handle this famous brand of coke.

Insist upon having "QUICK FIRE COKE." If the dealer in your town will not supply you with "QUICK FIRE COKE" take no other, for none other is so good. Write us and we will tell you how to get it and save money on your next coal bill.

Smith team is at present leading the tournament but the other teams are planning desperate measures to show them up in the next few games.

Tennis Club Has Its Courts Ready for Play

Work on the tennis courts has been progressing and one court is now ready for play, has in fact been played on, and the condition of the court has been pronounced "good." The other court will be ready for play by the last of the week, the weather permitting. Arrangements have been made by the Tennis Club with the Assembly Board whereby the club has jurisdiction over the courts. The Tennis Club will keep the courts in condition and furnish such ground equipment as is necessary, the membership fee being barely sufficient to cover this expense. Rules have been posted at the courts governing the

This meet, open to all grade school boys in Dixon, will be held the morning of June 6th at 9:30, at the high school Athletic Field. Cubs Get Hard Hitter in Trade With Columbus

Chicago, May 26.—John Brooks, heavy hitting right hand outfielder of the Columbus American Association club today was obtained by the Chicago Cubs in exchange for Outfielder Chick Taylor, another player to be named later and a large sum of money.

LOWLY BRAVES TAMED GIANTS IN TWIN BILL

Cubs Drop Into Cellar After Defeat by Pittsburgh

By Associated Press Leased Wire
 New York, May 27.—After twelve victories and three defeats in the recent series with western teams, the Giants have been humbled by a lowly eastern neighbor.

The National Leaguers lost to the cellar occupants at Boston yesterday 5-2 and 5-4.

Brooklyn pennant hopes rose with the aid of Vance and Grimes, who won a twin program at Philadelphia. Vance fanned ten batters while Grimes gave but six hits.

Pittsburgh tamed the Cubs 7-2 and stepped ahead of Philadelphia into third place.

The Cardinals entertained thousands of children who were guests to President August Hermann at Cincinnati with a 2-1 victory.

Ty Cobb smashed out the 1,000th extra base hit of his career of 20 years in the majors, breaking the record of 998 held by Honus Wagner. The Tigers beat Chicago 8-1.

Babe Ruth viewed the Yankees from the dugout as they divided their double card with the Red Sox losing the first game 3-2 and winning the second 6-1. Shocker yielded but four hits. Ruth worked out on the field before the games, but he is not expected in the lineup for at least a week.

The Senators pounded three Athletic pitchers and won 11-2.

Vangilder and Danforth hurled the Browns to triumph in a double-header with the Indians 8-4 and 5-4.

Cubs when he pilfered second, third and then home.
 George Sisler, star of the Browns, knocked out four hits in five times at bat, including a double in the first game against the Indians, but failed to get a rap in the second contest in four times up.

Mandell is Suspended.

New York, May 26.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, lightweight of Rockford, Illinois, was suspended for 30 days by the New York State Athletic Commission today for fouling Jimmy Goodrich of Buffalo in a bout of the lightweight tournament a week ago.

Success depends primarily on a healthy liver and stomach. You can not think straight if these organs are not working properly. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. You hear them. We hear them. Let's not forget!

There were many who marched away with hearts joyous in the knowledge that they were doing their duty in defending the honor of this great nation. Undaunted, they faced the fire of the enemy. And conquered! Yea, won the Victory of centuries.

Not all came back. Some sacrificed their all and now lie peacefully asleep in Flanders fields where poppies blow or in consecrated ground of our good old U. S. A. In their memory—

Healthy and happy, they answered the call to the colors. Money and material gain mattered not with them then. The country needed them and they answered "Here!" But the ravages of warfare left their mark on many. Some still lie silently on hospital beds. Others are no longer capable of supporting themselves and families in the manner they did before—doing their duty by the flag. Yes, your flag and our flag.

Japanese Volcano Blew Up: Natives Made Escape. Tokyo, May 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Disasters from the Nichi Nichi correspondent at Kagasaki report the explosion of Mount Suwasen-hima, an active volcano on Oshima Island. The eruption sent huge rocks tumbling down the mountain crushing a number of dwellings at the base. The inhabitants fled to Nakashima Island.

When the volcano first belched forth it sent out a terrific roar which served as a warning to the terrified residents and gave them opportunity for flight.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

THE STORY SO FAR:

GLORIA GORDON, beautiful flapper, marries DICK GREGORY, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes . . . but no work or children.

She refuses to cook or keep house, and hires RANGHILD SWANSON to do it for her, although Dick says they can't afford a maid. And she swamps Dick with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

Gloria becomes infatuated with STANLEY WAYBURN, an out-of-work actor. Her "jazzy" friend, MAY SEYMOUR, wife of DR. JOHN SEYMOUR, warns her not to be seen with Wayburn. She tells Gloria how she, herself, has been snubbed because of a foolish affair with JIM CAREWE. Gloria says she'll do as she pleases.

Dick becomes seriously ill with pneumonia. During the days of his slow recovery, Gloria sees Wayburn constantly. He tells her he is going to New York to get a job acting with SONIA CHOTEK, a Russian actress. He needs money. Gloria gets $200 for him from Dick's secretary, MISS BRIGGS. She tells Miss Briggs the money is to be spent improving the backyard of the Gregory house.

Wayburn and Gloria go driving, and the car overturns. Gloria, badly hurt, is rushed to a hospital. Wayburn disappears. Later Gloria has a letter from him. He is in New York.

Dr. Seymour orders Dick away for a rest. His mother, who has been ill, plans to go with him. But Gloria says that if MOTHER GREGORY goes, she won't. Dick refuses to tell his mother that Gloria doesn't want her along. A few hours after, Dick and his mother leave on their trip. Gloria acts out for New York.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY) Gloria felt as if she were asleep walking as she followed the red cap which carried her bag through the great noisy railroad terminal.

Outside, she drew a deep breath of air . . . New York air! She shook herself. She was really here. "Free at last!" she sighed. "I'm glad I came! I'll never go back! Never!"

Her heart beat high and wildly as she hailed a taxi.

A woman on the train had told her about a clean little hotel in West Eleventh street.

She sat back in a corner of the taxi and watched New York whirl by outside the windows. In the pale sunshine, the tall buildings seemed rich and wonderful. The very trucks and buses seemed marvelous to Gloria that day. . . . She was going to see Stanley Wayburn!

And this big, careless town this New York, would be hers to struggle with, to conquer! Perhaps she would write her name in electric lights against the night sky of Broadway yet!

At the little hotel she registered as "Miss Gloria Gordon" . . . a better stage name than "Gloria Gregory," she decided.

She went upstairs to the tidy, dehumanized hotel room, and unpacked her bag.

She bathed. She brushed her red-gold hair until it shone like polished copper. She "did" her nails and rubbed perfume into the palms of her hands, and on the nape of her neck. She rouged her cheeks.

She was happy! And wasn't she pretty, thought! She put her head on one side and laughed at herself in the looking glass. . . . Oh, she could land a job in a beauty-show all right!

If Stanley couldn't help find her a job, she'd go to Kit Cameron!

Kit was a chorus girl in the "Gayeties" . . . the most beautiful chorus in the world! And Kit could introduce her to the great Ginfeld.

Gloria was sure that if Ginfeld saw her, he would give her a place in the "Gayeties" . . . She was sure she was beautiful. Dick had always told her she was the prettiest woman in the world.

She crossed the room to a mirror that hung there against the wall, and looked at her own face.

Dick! The thought of him made Gloria's heart ache for just a minute. She put the thought of him aside. . . . She closed her heart against him.

She threw back her head, and studied herself with eyes that were like dark stars under their white lids. She smiled into the mirror.

She knew that she was better-looking than Kit Cameron had ever dared to be!

GLORIA'S spirits began to sink as she stood on the sidewalk and looked up at the dingy, narrow building that was Stanley Wayburn's boarding house.

"I wonder if he'll be glad to see me," she thought.

She was filled with panic as she went up the worn stone steps, and rang the doorbell.

"Is this where Mr. Wayburn lives?" Mr. Stanley Wayburn? She asked the tall, black-haired woman who opened the door.

"Yes, 'tis," the woman answered. "Who's wanting him?"

"I'm—I'm his sister," Gloria faltered.

"Well, he ain't home," the woman said. "He'd oughta be here in a few minutes. Wanta go up and wait for him?"

"Yes, thank you," said Gloria. She followed the boarding-house keeper up the red-carpeted stairs to the second floor.

Stan's rooms were at the back of the house, overlooking a dirty backyard. Upstairs, someone was practicing on a doleful saxophone.

But the rooms themselves were cheerful enough.

Everywhere there were pictures of women . . . the photographs that Gloria first had seen in Stan's dressing room in the theater back home.

She looked at them, again. Then she saw that there was a new one among them!

It stood all by itself in a Dutch-silver frame on a table in one corner. The pictured face in it was broad and fore-shortened. It was crowned by a swirl of blond hair. . . . It was Sonya Chotek's face!

Live pangs of jealousy stabbed Gloria like two-edged knives at the sight. She wondered if Stan was in love with that face. . . . She wondered if he thought Sonya Chotek was beautiful.

Was she beautiful? . . . Gloria picked up the picture of the actress and studied it closely. Then she crossed the room to a mirror that hung there against the wall, and looked at her own face. Under the deep coppery waves of her hair, it smiled back at her . . . vivid and sparkling.

"Pooh!" she said aloud. "I make her look like thirty cents!"

She put Sonya Chotek's picture back on the table, so that it faced the wall.

It was then that the telephone in Wayburn's bedroom rang.

Gloria flew to it and unhooked the receiver.

"Hello," she said.

The voice that answered her had a foreign accent. It was a woman's voice. It was Sonya Chotek's voice. Gloria knew at once.

"Who is this speaking, please?" it asked.

Gloria didn't answer. She banged the receiver back on its hook, and turned away from the phone. Then she stopped dead still.

WAYBURN had come in. He was standing in the doorway between the two rooms. Of course, he must have been listening.

He stared at her as if she had been a ghost. "For the love of Mike! Where did you drop from?"

Gloria's voice was wistful when she answered. "From home, of course—Aren't you glad to see me?"

Wayburn ignored her question. "Who was that on the phone just now?" he asked harshly.

"Oh, just some Jane who wanted to talk to you," Gloria replied. She managed to ripple a laugh at him, flippantly, as she walked past him into the sitting-room.

She was hurt—bewildered. What was the matter with Stan? The Stan who used to catch her hands in his, give her a look that was like a caress, and call her "Russel"?

"Aren't you going to ask me to sit down, or say you're glad to see me, or anything?" she asked.

She dropped into a chair, and watched Wayburn through her lashes. He took off his overcoat and hung it up. He lit a cigarette with a steady hand. He drew up a chair and sat down.

And not until then did he answer her.

"Well," he said, "as a matter of fact, I'm not exactly tickled to death to see you, Gloria. . . . What have you done? Left your husband?"

"Not exactly tickled to death to see her! Stan not glad to see her? . . . She tried to speak but her lips would scarcely move. They were white and drawn.

"I suppose you'd call it that—" she said at last. Her voice vibrated high and thin, like a violin string that has been stretched too taut. It broke suddenly.

SHE wanted to tell Stan how empty life at home had been for her since he dropped out of her life—how terribly she had missed him.

But his coldness froze her. She couldn't tell him anything. Her voice was congealed in her throat.

"Does your husband know you're here with me?" Wayburn asked. He gripped the arms of his chair with both hands as he leaned forward, hanging upon her answer.

"Suppose he does know it? What difference would it make?" Gloria's voice was a dull whisper.

"Difference!" Wayburn shouted. "It would make a difference of a difference to me!" He began to dash up and down the room like a caged tiger.

He stopped suddenly before her chair, and glared down at her.

"Do you suppose I want to be dragged into your troubles?" he asked violently. "Do you suppose I want that husband of yours to tell me up and shoot me, eh?—What could I do with you, anyway?"

Gloria saw in a flash how his mind was working. She shook with cold anger that was like an icy chill. And when she answered Wayburn her voice came between clenched teeth. She couldn't get them apart.

"I see what you're driving at, Stan," she said. "You think I'm asking you to take care of me—well, I may be cheap, but I'm not so cheap as that!"

Her anger broke over him suddenly like flooding waters bursting through a dam.

"I'm not such a fool as to expect help from you!" she cried. "Why, you can't take care of yourself—I'll bet you're still living on that $200 you borrowed from me!"

She could see Wayburn wince. That had got under his skin!

"Don't worry, I'll pay every red cent of it back!" he said.

Gloria answered. "I'll frame it when I get it," she said. She wanted to hurt Wayburn. She hated him, suddenly, as she had never hated anyone in all her life before—

THE telephone in the other room rang sharply. Wayburn slammed the door after him as he hurried in to answer it.

Gloria tipped to it, and laid her ear against the panels of it to listen.

"Hello, Sunshine," she heard Wayburn say. Her lip curled. That was like Stan—to call Sonya Chotek "Sunshine," as he had once called her "Russel."

Pet names were part of Stan's love-making, part of his "line" with women! Little caressing names that were like kisses on his lips as he whispered them! And they meant exactly what his kisses meant. Nothing! Nothing at all!

Oh, she had found Stan Wayburn out at last. He was a coward and a cad—Why, hadn't she seen it long ago?

Wayburn came back into the room. He sat on the arm of Gloria's chair, and laid his hand on Gloria's shoulder.

"Now, let's talk this over quietly," he said.

At his touch, all the fury went out of Gloria. She hated him, yes, but with a kind of misery. She turned in her chair and looked up at him, pleading with her eyes.

"Don't send me back home, Stan," she begged. "If you know how lonely I've been! . . . If you only knew! Look here, I'll get a job on the stage. Maybe Kit Cameron can get me into the show she's in. . . ."

Wayburn got up. "No, you'd better go home," he said brutally. His voice cut like a whip. And Gloria went mad for a moment.

She crossed the room, and picked up Sonya Chotek's picture. She held it above her head, and brought it down hard on the back of the nearest chair. The glass broke in a hundred pieces. . . . Above the crash of it, Gloria heard the sound of Wayburn's laugh.

"Well, that's about all you can do about it!" he said. "I married Sonya Chotek yesterday!"

New York—See-sawing up and down Broadway I saw Irvin Cobb, the reporter from Paducah, and his face is the reddest in town. Saw Fannie Hurst looking extremely neat and becoming, which is something unusual among writers. Saw Madame Louise, proprietor of a Chicago beauty shop and she sported a new shade of hair. When I remarked about it, she answered, "Well, I'm in the business and so it behooves me to set an example to my patrons. I change the color of my hair every few weeks." Saw Joe LeBlanc, who has accumulated a fortune selling theater tickets at cut rates and has thus saved many a show from a premature trip to the storehouse. Saw Ben De Casseres, the boy with the barbed pen, back from Hollywood where he has been pruning the films. Saw very slight young lady being pulled along by great police dog while 390-round man passed with toy poodle on leash. Saw a street faker exhibiting brilliant strings of beads and the only purchase made while I watched was by a woman already wearing seven strands of beads around her neck.

Saw C. H. Croker-King, who bath the most solemn face on Broadway. Saw Galina Kopermak and of all the pretty actresses along our main stem she is one of the prettiest.

Saw Will Page, the doughty press agent, who informs me that this is the first time in eight years that the Follies have had chorus boys. And until he told me I had not known they were in the cast.

Saw Anne Nichols and as always she seemed in fine humor. And why not, with "Abie's Irish Rose" about to enter its fourth year and still doing a $12,000-a-week business even in the slack season? Saw H. H. Frazer, once a baseball mogul, as the sport writers say, and now making $25,000 a week clear profit with "No, No, Nanette," a musical comedy which New York has not yet seen, proving that a play doesn't have to make a hit on Broadway before gaining success elsewhere.

For several years I have heard free theater tickets called "Annie Oakleys," but didn't know why. Now Joe Drum, veteran press agent, tells me the tickets perpetuate the name of the famous woman rifle shot because they are punched with holes in both ends. They used to be called "skulls" and "broads," but the bill posters began calling them "Annie Oakleys" and that term is now in general use throughout the theater world.

In lower Manhattan two buildings stand as corroboration of the old saw. "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves." The Woolworth building, erected on the profits from five and ten cent sales, will soon have a mate in the huge Telephone building now nearing completion. Nickels dropped in slots built the latter.

Some weeks ago I wrote of a man who always rides to the opera on the chauffeur's seat of his town car and a reader now seems dubious, saying that a man who can afford a fine car and a driver would ride in comfort inside the car. Not always, Thomas A. Edison usually rides in front with his chauffeur.

The car for the long tour

RARE is the vacation or summer diversion in which the automobile does not play its part. In practically every warm weather relaxation, from the long tour to the family picnic, a motor car is indispensable.
